Indicate the applicable Exempt Category (1-4 or 6):

☒	1.	Research, conducted in established or commonly accepted educational settings that specifically involves normal educational practices that are not likely to adversely impact students' opportunity to learn required educational content or the assessment of educators who provide instruction. This includes most research on regular and special educational instructional strategies, and the research on the effectiveness of or the comparison amount instructional techniques, curricula, or classroom management methods.
☐	2.	Research that only includes interactions involving educations tests (cognitive, diagnostic, aptitude, achievement), survey procedures, interview procedures, or observation of public behavior (including visual or auditory recording) if at least ONE of the following criteria is met:
	☐ i.	the information obtained is recorded by the investigator in such a manner that the identity of the human subjects cannot readily be ascertained, directly or through identifiers linked to the subjects;
	☐ ii.	any disclosure of the human subjects' responses outside the research would not reasonably place the subjects at risk of criminal or civil liability or be damaging to the subjects' financial standing, employability, educational advancement, or reputation.
☐	3.	Research involving benign behavioral interventions in conjunction with the collection of information from an ADULT subject through verbal or written response or audiovisual recording if the subject prospectively agrees to the intervention and information collection at least ONE of the following criteria is met:
	☐ i.	Information obtained is recorded by the investigator in such a manner that the identity of the human subjects cannot readily be ascertained, directly or through identifiers linked to the subjects;

☐	4.	Secondary research for which consent is not required: Secondary research uses of identifiable private information or identifiable bio-specimens, if at least ONE of the following criteria is met:
	☐ i.	The identifiable private information or identifiable bio-specimens are publicly available;
	☐ ii.	Information, which may include information about bio-specimens, is recorded by the investigator in such a manner that the identity of the human subjects cannot readily be ascertained directly or through identifiers linked to the subjects, the investigator does not contact the subjects, and the investigator will not re-identify subjects;
	☐ iii.	The research involves only information collection and analysis involving the investigator's use of identifiable health information when that use is regulated under 45 CFR 160 and 164, subparts A and E, for the purpose of "health care operations" or "research" as defined by the regulations;
	☐ iv.	The research is conducted by, or on behalf of, a Federal department or agency using government-generated or government-collected information obtained for non-research activities, if the research generates identifiable private information that is or will be maintained on information technology that is subject to and in compliance with section 208(b) of the E-Government Act of 2002, if all of the identifiable private information collected, used, or generated as part of the activity will be maintained in systems of records subject to the Privacy Act of 1974, and, if applicable, the information used in the research was collected subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995.

SECTION E: Summary

1. Please provide a detailed description of your project: We will be employing a survey in Poland asking Polish citizens their views of the US military presence. We have established in previous research that interactions between US service members and the base's economic benefits can lead to positive and negative perceptions of the US military, people, and government. We are doing a focused study on Poland, a country we surveyed previously, to deploy experimental questions (questions that vary in particular situations to see how people respond) and find if the ongoing conflict in Ukraine produces different kinds of responses than we have seen previously.

   We want to know whether positive and negative interactions with US military service members produce consistent differences in views of the US military, government, and people. We expect benign interactions to lead to positive views, and negative interactions (like experiencing crime, pollution, or noise) will lead to negative interactions. We also expect that people will be more likely to express positive support for the presence of troops when primed about the benefits of troops or the threat of Russia in Ukraine. We are also interested in what kind of interactions lead to protests by host-state civilians.

- Who will survey, interview, collect data: Qualtrics will recruit participants to fill a nationally representative sample of Polish adults. The national representation will be based on gender, income, and age. The survey will be online only and results will go into the Qualtrics platform. We will extract data from that. We are not collecting personally identifiable information beyond basic demographic and geographic information. Qualtrics does provide geocoded longitude and latitude from respondents that we will use to determine people's relative location to military bases. We do not receive names or other specific identifiable information about the respondents from Qualtrics.

- How, specifically, are participants being recruited: We are using Qualtrics to recruit participants. They have panels in countries in Poland where they recruit participants and compensate for their participation. Their methods for recruitment and payment amount are proprietary and not available in detail for us to share

- If there is a signed Data Use Agreement, who owns the data: n/a
  You must attach a copy of the Data Use Agreement with your IRB submission.
  Please note that Data Use Agreements must also be reviewed and approved by the Data Security Committee. Submit your Data Use Agreement here.

- Will participants be offered incentives?
  ☐ NO
  ☒ YES, please provide details: Qualtrics describes their recruitment process as follows:

"The majority of our samples come from traditional, actively managed market research panels. While this is our preferred method, social media is also used to gather respondents[…]For hard-to-reach groups, Qualtrics utilizes panels brought about through specialized recruitment campaigns. Hundreds of profiling attributes are included ir panels to guarantee accurate and detailed knowledge of every potential respondent." Qualtrics does offer econo incentives to participate in surveys. The amount they offer is proprietary and not public information that we can provide.

- If direct quotes will be included as part of the analyzed data, is this information in the consent form?
  ☒ YES* (must be included this information as part of informed consent)
  ☐ N/A

- Will participants be audio and/or video recorded?
  ☒ NO
  ☐ YES* (must include this information in the consent—include whether these recordings will be kept, or transcribed, verified and deleted so only the transcripts will be considered data.)
